

Prince George's County Public Schools Math Tutoring

in Partnership with Carnegie Learning

Math Tutoring for Middle School Students

Math tutors will assist students with homework, teaching them how to perform the calculations needed to complete their assignments. They will also teach students various mathematical concepts, processes, and computations. Math tutors will be available to receive requests for assistance from students via call, text or online. Tutors will interact virtually with students to discuss and go over math coursework and any questions they may have about mathematics. Tutors will offer encouragement and support to keep students motivated and ready to learn.

Tutoring sessions go LIVE Monday, September 14, 2020
